A HUNTER'S FATAL MISTAKE.
Gun Discharged by His Stumbling and Kills a Baby.

Port Jervis, N. Y., Dec. 1.—(Nelson Hulse and John Van Gordon, of Big Pond, near Edinburg, Sullivan county, returned home Monday from a bear hunt, in which they were unsuccessful. They were about to enter Hulse's house when Van Gordon stumbled and his gun was discharged.

The charge went through the door, striking dishes off the table. One buckshot glanced and struck Hulse's baby in the back of the head and coming out near the eye, killed it instantly.

The child was sitting on the floor, playing with a dog when it was shot.

Donation From Mr. Carnegie.
Richmond, Va., Dec. 1.—A letter just received here from Mr. Andrew Carnegie offers to give the last $10,000 of the $100,000 proposed to be raised for the Mechanics' Institute here. In concluding his letter Mr. Carnegie writes: "I feel an unusual pleasure in aiding an educational institution in Richmond, which in my youth I thought it my duty to try to capture. Well, I like better to capture it today in this manner and take it in my heart."

The magazine opens with the first installment of Anthony Hope's sequel to "The Prisoner of Zenda," entitled "The Expert of Hentzau," and Mr. Kipling has a short story called "The Tomb of His Ancestors." Mr. Dana's reminiscences include his personal observations in running the batteries of Vicksburg, and give his wartime impressions of Grant, Sherman and Meade. The number is beautifully illustrated by Church, Gilson, Foxcroft and Lison.

COL. HASKELL INSTALLED

New Sealer of Weights and Measures in Office.

ARRIVED HERE THIS MORNING

Not Absolutely Certain That the New Official Will Like the Position Well Enough to Retain It Permanently—His Long Indifference a Matter of Comment.

Col. William C. Haskell, of Cleveland, Ohio, who was appointed sealer of weights and measures for the District, last summer, but did not take the office at the time, reached the city this morning and was installed today.

Col. Haskell reached the District Building at 11 o'clock this morning and went immediately to the office of Commissioner Wight. These two gentlemen had a conversation at some length and then adjourned together to the office of Commissioner Ross, where another consultation occurred.

When this was over it was announced that Mr. Haskell is to stay. The matter of his leaving the office of the seal will probably be attended to late today.

Col. Haskell said to a reporter for The Times: "I have come to stay for a time at least. I have taken the position. It is too early to talk about any plans, however. I do not know anything about my new business."

"I have stated my reasons for not taking the position before several times. My private business would not allow it."

Col. Haskell did not say that he intends to remain in Washington as sealer of weights and measures, permanently. It is believed that he has other aspirations and hopes. It has been understood all the time since his appointment four months ago, that he would have preferred something else, and that he has held aloof from this position, fearing that if he took it his chances for something better would be lessened. Such an arrangement is indefinite and unsatisfactory to everybody, however, and he has probably decided that it is better to take this $2,500 a year salary than to have no salary at all.

It is understood at the District Building that the Commissioners are not entirely satisfied with Col. Haskell's long cold indifference to the place that was taken away from a District man of their choice for an outside for political reasons. It is a fact that a certain District man was promised the position nearly half a year ago, and had made all his plans to take it when Ohio and Mr. Hanna made their appearance as outsiders.

The new position which Col. Haskell takes has its good and its bad points. If he fills the position and does its work he will wear a badge and drive about the city in a District wagon testing meat and vegetable and coal scales. He will have one assistant, but the two together cannot more than do the work. It is possible, however, as has been demonstrated heretofore, for a sealer of weights and measures to do very little work.

It is told of a former incumbent that his visits to the office were almost as infrequent as snowflakes in summer. His assistant did the work as well as possible, but many of the grocers and coal dealers said their scales were not tested for years at a time. One gentleman not long ago made the statement that there has been no test of his scales for twelve years. The law requires an examination every three months.

The office rooms of the sealer are small and unpretentious. There are two of them, $10 each, and they are uncarpeted and unadorned.

An Eminent Physician and Scientist

Makes a Free Offer to Our Men and Women Readers.

This is the age of scientific progress and nothing proves this fact more than the great discovery of Swamp-Root by the eminent physician and scientist, S. A. Kline, M. D. This remedy is receiving the hearty endorsement of all up-to-date physicians and hospitals, and has an established reputation everywhere as the most remarkable cure for kidney and bladder troubles and disorders arising from weak kidneys, such as pain or dull ache in the back, too frequent desire to make water, sometimes scanty supply with smarting or burning sensation in passing, catarrh of the bladder, gravel, rheumatism, and all Bright's Disease, which in fact, is only advanced kidney trouble.

The saying that "Delays are dangerous" is more applicable to kidney and bladder trouble than to anything else, for there is no disease so prevalent and none so fatal.

Men and women doctor their troubles so often without benefit that they get discouraged and skeptical. In most such cases serious mistakes are made in not knowing what the disease is or what makes it so. If there is any question in your mind as to what causes your trouble then set your urine aside for twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling is convincing evidence that your kidneys and bladder need doctoring. As kidney disease advances the face looks pale or sallow, eyes puff, the feet swell and sometimes the heart acts badly. The mild and extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

So universally successful has Dr. Kline's Swamp-Root been in quickly curing kidney and bladder troubles, that if you wish to prove its wonderful merits you may have a sample bottle and a valuable book, both sent absolutely free by mail.

Nothing could be more generous than this liberal offer, and knowing as we do of the undoubted efficacy of Swamp-Root, our readers are advised to write mentioning The Morning Times, and send their address to Dr. Kline & Co., Birmingham, N. Y. The regular size of this remedy may be purchased from any druggist at fifty cents and one dollar. The fact that this liberal offer appears in this paper is a guarantee of genuineness.

A CHIEF COMPUTER WANTED.

An Examination to Be Held for a $2,500 Job in the Treasury.

The United States Civil Service Commission announces an examination to fill the position of chief computer. Supervising Architect's Office, Treasury Department, at a salary of $2,500. The first part of this examination will consist of a complete and detailed statement by the competitor setting forth his general and technical education and training and his business experience and qualifications. This statement is to be typewritten, and must be sworn to by the competitor as correct in every particular. The statement may include certificates, testimonials, etc., that, in the judgment of the competitor, corroborate in any way his written statement. It is to be addressed to the United States Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C., and received by it not later than December 21, 1897, accompanied by application on Forms 304 and 375.

The second part of the examination will consist of (a) practical tests in elementary mathematics, (b) knowledge of building materials and construction, (c) specifications, etc., and (d) theses on some technical subject connected with building and design. This will be given on January 6 and 7, 1898, at Washington, D. C., and other cities throughout the United States where the commission has a local board of examiners. Eight hours each day will be allowed, subjects (a) and (b) being given on the first day, and (c) and (d) on the second. Only those competitors whose submitted statements are considered to be entirely satisfactory will be admitted to the second part.

Persons desiring to enter this examination should at once write to the United States Civil Service Commission, at Washington, D. C., for application blanks, Forms 304 and 375, which should be properly executed and returned to the commission not later than December 21, 1897.

JOHN W. MACKAY'S TOMB.

Grand Mausoleum Approaching Completion in Greenwood Cemetery.

New York, Dec. 1.—John W. Mackay's mausoleum in Greenwood is rapidly nearing completion. Yesterday the largest slab of granite ever quarried in this country was lifted from the schooner Davenport, which had brought the stone nearly all the way from Baliswell, Me., quarry, and today the work of putting it in place as the roof stone of the mausoleum was begun.

This magnificent tomb, where some day will rest the body of Millionaire Mackay, will cost about $300,000. Mrs. Mackay, wife of the millionaire, selected the design herself, which is the work of John B. Lowe, a sculptor of note, of Louisville, Ky. This mausoleum possesses many original ideas. The interior looks very like a miniature church auditorium, with all the conveniences of the latter, and it is lighted and heated by electricity, and it will be large enough for a priest to say mass before at least fifty persons. There are just twenty-two crypts for bodies.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS.

Discussion of Best Method of Conducting the Primary Department.

The morning session of the convention of the District Sunday School Association convened at 10:30 o'clock in the lecture room of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church. The subject for discussion of the best methods to be used in instruction in the primary department of Sunday School work.

The principal speaker was Mr. J. W. Barnes, of New York City, who gave an interesting review of the opinions of teachers from all over the country, given at the great Sunday school convention held at Asbury Park, N. J., last summer.

Mrs. Marshall, the principal of the primary department of the Calvary Baptist Church Sunday school, who was to have addressed the meeting, was unavoidably absent.

A Hydrant Monster

A disturbed and variable gastric circulation, a liver that is too active, the secretion of bile, both in quality and quantity, the consequent retention of abnormal constituents in the blood, together with an impaired assimilation of food—these are some of the forces at work in the production of the victim of the "HYDRANT MONSTER." Out of them arise nervous headaches, neuralgia, sick headaches, attacks of indigestion, irritability of temper, and inability to conduct business or to concentrate the mind for any length of time without effort. All other symptoms incidental to any disorder of the blood or of the sensitive brain in an exaggerated or distorted form. The monster, therefore, is something behind every dyspepsia.

has demonstrated in thousands of cases that the best, surest, and most effective secretion of bile, both in quality and quantity, the consequent retention of abnormal constituents in the blood, together with an impaired assimilation of food—these are some of the forces at work in the production of the victim of the "HYDRANT MONSTER." Out of them arise nervous headaches, neuralgia, sick headaches, attacks of indigestion, irritability of temper, and inability to conduct business or to concentrate the mind for any length of time without effort. All other symptoms incidental to any disorder of the blood or of the sensitive brain in an exaggerated or distorted form. The monster, therefore, is something behind every dyspepsia.

COMING TO THE THEATERS.

An engagement which will be fraught with genuine pleasure is the return of Michael Morton a delightful comedy. "Miss Francis of Yale" next week at the Columbia. When the piece was seen here last year it scored an immediate success and was repeated by the same company. Michael Morton, a well-known international manager, has assumed direction of the play, and after securing a remarkably strong cast, the piece on tour throughout the country, finally bringing it to the Manhattan Theater, New York. The favorable impression it made upon metropolitan playgoers is best attested by the scenes of enthusiasm which greeted each presentation, and the considerable treatment accorded by the most influential journals. The company includes some of the foremost players, and besides Michael Morton, who will play the part of the hero, the cast includes the following: Miss Francis of Yale, better known as "Miss Francis of Yale," there is Miss Lavinia Stannard, a Washington girl, with countless admirers and numerous stage successes to her credit. Others in the company are Owen Weston, Raymond Cuff, George F. Farron, Louis Grew, Miss Monte Dione, Miss Gertrude Homan, Miss Fanny Young and Miss Helene Cotton. The scenic environment this season are all new, and said to be both attractive and unique. The cast is identical to that seen during the New York run of the play, and many interesting changes are said to have been made in the story since the occasion of its earlier presentation. The advance sale of seats will begin tomorrow morning.

It is gratifying to note that the advance orders for seats indicate that there will be a large and brilliant audience at the New National next Monday night to welcome Henry Miller in "Heartsease." Those who calculate upon an uncertain quantity for your quantity, Henry Miller has been for several years accounted one of the very best American actors, and in Washington theaters have had an ample proof of it in his various appearances here with Charles Frohman's Empire Theatre Company in "Down by the River," "The Masqueraders," and other successful plays. His first engagement as a star in this city in "Heartsease" last week was an immediate and pronounced success. "Heartsease" is a romantic comedy—the kind of drama he most excels in—and he has been a most successful actor every where, and the production is said to be an exceedingly beautiful one in the point of scenery, costume and stage furnishing. The advance sale of seats opens tomorrow morning.

The novelty of the week will be the latest management project, hurried against the wall of public opinion—Klaw & Erlanger's extravaganza, "One Round of Fives"—which is at the Washington engagement at the Lafayette on Monday evening. It is a success of the most gratifying dimension, and the enterprise of the management firm has been rewarded in that most effective way—the full house and measure of popular approval and the most successful financial result. The "Sousa" finale at the end of the first act, when the stirring melodies of four of the most famous of the Sousa marches are combined in a beautiful and patriotic ensemble, employing the vocal services of the entire company, is said to be one of the most effective pieces of the entire production. It has never failed to arouse the audience to fervid cheering. In the company of 100 people engaged in the production are the following: Walter Jones, the principal; Walter Jones, Richard Carle, the Rogers Brothers, Charles Kike, Richard Kike, Robert Rogers, Mrs. Rogers, Marie Celeste, Maude Raymond and Hattie Moore.

The appearance of Fanny Rice at the Academy of Music next week, will give Washington theatergoers their first opportunity to see this charming comedienne in her greatest success, "At the French Ball." The event possesses a special interest for Washingtonians, as the comedy is from the pen of Mr. Frederick F. Schurmer, acting secretary of the Republican Congressional committee. It has been one of the most successful comedies of the past four years. During that time it has been presented in every leading city from San Francisco to New York, and last year a phenomenal success financially. It is based upon a German play, which Mme. Geisler presented with great success during her American tour, and introduces the versatile Fanny in a variety of characters peculiarly suited to her comedy talent. Her presentation of the piece has been characterized by an uninterrupted series of triumphs. This is said to be her first appearance at popular prices in any city in the United States, which will give a host of Washington admirers who remember her as the leading feature of "Nanji," and her clever performance in the Joseph Jefferson play, "The Rivals," a good opportunity to see her in her best character.

Next week Washingtonians will have an opportunity for the first time of seeing the latest success in the field of emotional melodrama at the Grand Opera House. It is "A Quality Mother." It is said to be a pure, clean drama, without the usual claptrap, mock heroics and straining for sensational effects, which serve to mar the dramatic power of the critics. It will be elaborately staged, and is interpreted by a company of players which includes Eleanor Morris, Ella Barr, Christie MacLean, Theresa Newcomb, Adelyn Wesley, Henrietta Vaders, Lew Johnson, Frank Surich, George Murray Woods, Edward Ames, Thomas J. Jackson, H. Rees Davis, T. A. Kelvington, Harry L. Barker and Carlton Wells. The usual matinee will be given on Wednesday and Saturday. Seats can be reserved on and after Thursday.

Manager Kernan's attraction at the Lyceum next week will be Weber and Fields' Vaudeville Club Burlesques, which comes direct from their Broadway home in New York city. This organization, like others controlled by this successful firm, is composed absolutely of refined and high-class artists, whose individual names stand prominently at the head of all others in their respective lines. The entertainers presented by this company have been described as "exceptionally good," which fact is verified by a glance at the following names: The Pantier brothers, the marvellous athletes, Cook and Condon, the refined comedy duo; Lewis and Fields, the up-to-date parodists; the Walker sisters, singers and dancers; and Douglas and Ford, comedy sketch artists. The performance concludes with a new burlesque, entitled "The Girl from China," which is said to be very bright and witty. A special feature will be the first presentation in this city of the wonderful "Lobstercope," which is a burlesque on the many animated picture machines.

MARYLAND VIANDS IN ROME.

A Descendant of the Carrolls Introduces Oysters and Terrapins.

Baltimore, Dec. 1.—Miss Virginia MacTavish is making arrangements to have the first Maryland oysters and terrapins which she proposes to give on her return to the Eternal City.

Miss MacTavish consulted Mr. Robson, the steamship agent, who has written to New York, to see if arrangements can be made so that the oysters and terrapins can be sent alive by way of Genoa, reaching Rome about the same time that Miss MacTavish gets there. If they can be properly cared for on board the ship, he thinks they can be sent. Oysters and terrapins have been sent from Baltimore to England, but never before to Rome.

Mrs. and Miss MacTavish entertained extensively last winter in the Bandini palace, which they will occupy again. It is their purpose to give a luncheon, at which American dishes shall be served. Miss MacTavish, who has been in America since August, will sail on Saturday for Liverpool and will go to Paris, and thence to Rome for the winter. She and her mother now live abroad and visit Baltimore only once a year.

Miss MacTavish is one of the few lineal descendants of Charles Carroll, of Carrollton, who has a great-great-granddaughter. She is also a great-granddaughter of the field Scot, through whom she comes into connection with the most distinguished families in Virginia.

Steamer Sunk at Sea.

London, Dec. 1.—A dispatch to Lloyd's from the British steamer Durango in a damaged condition with her forepeak full of water. The Durango collided with the German steamer Ordenera at sea, and the last named vessel was sent to the bottom. Her crew was saved.

MARTIAL LAW IN MONTEVIDEO.

Armed Patrols About the City and Troops Ready for Emergencies.

Buenos Ayres, Argentina, Dec. 1.—The result of the latest rioting in Montevideo, Uruguay, in which two persons were killed and several injured, has been an order putting the city under martial law again. Armed patrols surround the city, and the troops are resting on their arms, though now comparative quiet reigns.

Assurances are given that as a result of a big meeting in favor of the candidacy of Senator Cuestas, President ad interim, of which 40,000 persons took part, Congress has decided to pass a vote of confidence in Cuestas. This diminishes the probability of a dissolution of that body.

A provisional contract providing for a reorganization of the province of Buenos Ayres Bank, in this city, has been signed. It is believed that a land syndicate is behind the reorganization plan.

THE EXPORT TOBACCO EDICT.

Impression That Spain Will Soon Repeal the Prohibitory Order.

New York, Dec. 1.—The belief prevails in the tobacco trade here that the Spanish government will soon rescind the edict prohibiting the export of tobacco from Cuba. Among those of the tobacco importers the belief seems to be based on little that is more substantial than rumor. There are a few Spanish and Cuban importers who speak of private information from official circles. The date most frequently mentioned for the rescinding of the edict is January 1.
